

American Chemical Society Division of Organic Chemistry Award

The American Chemical Society's Division of Organic Chemistry, gives this award to recognize students who display a significant aptitude for organic chemistry and to encourage further interest in the field. The award is presented to a senior, selected by the Undergraduate Affairs Committee on the basis of success in organic chemistry courses and undergraduate research in the field. The award consists of a certificate, a letter of recognition, and a one year free membership to the ACS Organic Division, which is presented at the Department of Chemistry awards ceremony on commencement day.

2016 Recipient of the American Chemical Society
Division of Organic Chemistry Award

Alexandra Van Hall

American Chemical Society Division of Organic Chemistry Award

The American Chemical Society's Division of Organic Chemistry gives this award to recognize students who display a significant aptitude for organic chemistry and to encourage further interest in the field. The award is presented to a senior, selected by the Undergraduate Affairs Committee, on the basis of success in organic chemistry courses and undergraduate research in the field. The award consists of a certificate of recognition and letter of commendation from the Chair of the Division of Organic Chemistry, which is presented at the Department of Chemistry awards ceremony on commencement day.

2015 Recipient of the American Chemical Society Division of Inorganic Chemistry Award

Christopher J. Reinhardt