

CAS Dean's Outstanding Senior Award

Annually, the Dean honors the top senior graduating from each department in the College of Arts and Sciences with the "Dean's Outstanding Senior Award", consisting of a medal and certificate presented at the University Commencement ceremony. In previous years, prior to the formation of the College of Arts and Sciences, this award was named the "FNSM Dean's Outstanding Senior Award".

Each department in the College, along with the Interdisciplinary Degree Program and the Special Major Program, is asked to select one graduating senior. The selection criteria are:

- 1) Demonstrated academic excellence exemplified by an exceptional grade point average
- 2) Election to honor societies
- 3) Participation in research
- 4) Other academic achievements selected by the department

2016 Recipient of the CAS Dean's Outstanding Senior Award

Alexandra Van Hall

CAS Dean's Outstanding Senior Award

Annually, the Dean honors the best senior graduating from each department in the College of Arts and Sciences with the "Dean's Outstanding Senior Award", consisting of a medal and certificate presented at the University Commencement ceremony. In previous years, prior to the formation of the College of Arts and Sciences, this award was named the "FNSM Deans Outstanding Senior Award".

Each department in the College, along with the Interdisciplinary Degree Program and the Special Major Program, is asked to select one graduating senior. The selection criteria are:

- 1) Demonstrated academic excellence exemplified by an exceptional grade point average
- 2) Election to honor societies
- 3) Participation in research
- 4) Other academic achievements selected by the department

The student must be present at the University Commencement to receive his/her award.

Recipients of the CAS Dean's Outstanding Senior Award for Chemistry

2008---Benjamin A. Silverman
2009---Gregory Morrison
2010---Kristen M. Baroudi
2011---Derek M. Peloquin
2012---Nicole E. Kendel
2013---Victor A. Beaumont
2014---Christina E. Wong
2015---Shauna M. McLeod

CAS Dean's Outstanding Senior Award

Annually, the Dean honors the best senior graduating from each department in the College of Arts and Sciences with the "Dean's Outstanding Senior Award", consisting of a medal and certificate presented at the University Commencement ceremony. In previous years, prior to the formation of the College of Arts and Sciences, this award was named the "FNSM Deans Outstanding Senior Award".

Each department in the College, along with the Interdisciplinary Degree Program and the Special Major Program, is asked to select one graduating senior. The selection criteria are:

- 1) Demonstrated academic excellence exemplified by an exceptional grade point average
- 2) Election to honor societies
- 3) Participation in research
- 4) Other academic achievements selected by the department

The student must be present at the University Commencement to receive his/her award.

Recipients of the CAS Dean's Outstanding Senior Award for Chemistry

2007---Brian A. Danielak
2006---Lok Lok Liu
2005---Maryann T. Clune
2004---Amy L. Wojciechowski
2003---Brooks R. Bohall
2002---Brian N. Tse
2001---Brendan C. Mort
1995---Ashok Sehgal
1986---Roxanne Male